Assistant Director of Brand Engagement

At the university the Incarnate word

Dear hiring manager,

I am writing this letter to express my interest in the Video Production Assistant (Work Study). Being qualified to have a work study this year I specifically was looking for one that I could actively work in a field that I enjoy and want to pursue. I genuinely think I'll be a good fit for this job because I have the passion and enthusiasm I believe to be needed for this position. Although I'm not used to all the ins and outs when it comes to cameras I'm always willing to learn in order to be better efficient.

For my starters my current major of 3D Animation and Game Design requires all freshmen to take classes of all the concentrations in order to get a grasp of what is require from others we work with as well as prepare us for the portfolio review at the end of our second semester that determines whether we can more forward in our concentrate. With this experience I've benefited from learning new programs such as Maya, Unity, Adobe 3D Substance painter and Zbrush in order to succeed in my classes.

Even before enrolling at UIW I went to a magnet school ,Communications Arts High School, which included classes to allow their students to familiarize with programs (Including Adobe) to aid in the decision of their desired concentration (Animation, AV production or Broadcast Journalism). I chose Animation and even got certified in Adobe Animate 2021, was a part of my school's SkillsUSA organization for Animation, and participated in NISD's Nerdvana Con video contest with a small group of classmates and won 2nd place.

Outside of specifically art related fields I also have over 4 years of customer service experience, which has assisted to help grow the person I am today. Over four years as a cashier at Tellez Tamales & Barbacoa and about 5 months at the UIW dining hall.

Sincerely,

Adam Tellez
