To whom it may concern.

I've been a fan of the Palia and the coziness of the game. So I am exhilarated to see that there was a posting for an associate position for a character artist. I am confident that I can help with your games. I have experience in the 3D character pipeline from making complex and stylized characters, creating characters using both PBR and hand painted textures.

I was introduced to the game Palia from the models I've seen posted on art station, the hand painted textures always seemed to elevate the models. All the food and furniture models that were made for the games were always so pretty to look at so I wanted to try my hand in creating a piece inspired by the models I've seen and also try out the game. I created a fish model on a cutting board inspired by all of the food models I've seen for Palia. I used many of the Palia models as reference for my fish and had so much fun creating the model and learning from the models I saw. There were some challenges like hand painting a metal look on the knife to which I struggled but I was able to figure it out after taking a break and stepping away from the model for a bit.

Reiterating my previous points, I would to show my skills and the experience that I've learned from my years in college to show how I can be an asset for the company in creating characters for your future games

Sincerely,

Sofia Almanz
